Daily heliskiing

In the morning, a rich breakfast awaits you. During breakfast, the guide tells you about the day and will prepare you to experience a fantastic day. The number of runs can vary per day. This is mainly due to the weather conditions. It is important to know that you are going to ski a lot in the powder! More than you have ever done in your life.

After the end of a long day of heliskiing in the delicious powder, it's time to relax. Of course, having a drink is much more fun because you have to tell all your great stories and listen to the stories of the group. The diner is cozy together at long tables. So you eat with the guides, the pilots, the maids and the masseuses. The intention is that the atmosphere is like in a mountain hut. Cozy, open and relaxed.
